Selected BobTalk

Among the most atmospheric and unusual sounding of all the Chicago blues (about Three Times a Fool).

As bad as it is to be three times a fool, it's even worse to be third on a match.

I always thought it was one of the best Elvis Presley records that Elvis never made (about The Fool).

The heart of a fool is in his mouth, but the mouth of a wise man is in his heart (before Fool, Fool, Fool).

If you want to be a fool no more, you might wasn't to try some Ginkgo Biloba. It's the extract of the Ginkgo plant. Some people say that it's a memory enhancer. I read that somewhere but I just can't remember where.

I always liked songs with parentheses in the title (about Fools Rush in (Where Angels Fear to Tread)).

The wise man draws more advantage from his enemies than the fool from his friends.

“It's night time in the Big City.

1986	Beastie Boys	No Sleep Till Brooklyn
1962	Hank Ballard & The Midnighters	Broadway
1959	Dinah Washington	Manhattan

Selected BobTalk

Tonight we're gonna be goin' from the Bowery to the Bronx, from the East Village to Harlem, from Hudson Heights to Lenox Hill and from Korea Town to Little Italy, from Hell's Kitchen to Greenwich Village, from Manhattan Valley to Marble Hill, from Midtown South to Midtown itself, from Murray Hill to NoHo, from Roosevelt Island to SoHo, from Spanish Harlem to Sugar Hill, from Sutton Place to Tribeka, from Tudor City to Turtle Bay, from the upper Eastside to the upper Westside, from the West Village to Washington Heights, from West Harlem to Yorkville...

It might not be totally true, but who cares? It's a good song (about New York's My Home).

I've always been partial to the demo...shows how funky you can be with a couple of acoustic guitars (about Across 110th Street).

That one just about made me drop my mustard squirter! (about Broadway).

If there was ever a love song to a city, I'd say it was this one (about Manhattan).

New York has always been good to me, I hope I was nice to it for the last hour. I'll see you on the streets of Manhattan.

Selected BobTalk

Well it's the middle of April, and if you're like me you were up all night last night finishing your tax returns. As Benjamin Franklin once put it, in this world nothing is certain but death and taxes. One other thing is certain, for the next hour we're going to be covering both those subjects with our usual musical abandon so call all the deductions into the room, gather around the radio and enjoy the next 58 minutes. It would 60 minutes, but the government wants its taste...

Written by George Harrison, and recorded by his group, the Beatles (about Taxman).

Like all great artists, he was able to turn things that bothered him into three minutes of musical pleasure, like here (about Prince Buster).

The names were changed to protect the guilty. (about Tax Paying Blues).

New Lost City Ramblers Mike Seeger, John Cohen, Tom Paley— They never made the big time like the Kingston Trio, but they never did wear striped shirts. One of the things the New Lost City Ramblers did was uncover great old songs. Songs that you could only find these days in piles of 78s in somebody's barn. They breathe new life into those songs and their records stand the test of time, just like the originals.

As bad as taxes are, you will eventually recover. On the other hand, death is something you never come back from. It a subject we visit in every episode of Theme Time Radio Hour, but right now we're gonna shine the spotlight on it for just a few songs.

One of the darkest, saddest songs ever recorded. Kind of a jaunty organ for such a sad song (about Dead!).

Jazz meets R and B meets jump blues and you hear the beginnings of rock and roll.

I want to leave you with the words of Willie Nelson and Red Foxx 'Pay your taxes!'

Selected BobTalk

A lot of music historians point to this song and say it's one of the big influences on ska... I listen to it and I can hear that, but even more important it's just a great record. (about Be My Guest).

That was the smooth tongued Memphis Minnie, sleek and slick, rippleless, slyly loquacious and harsh and rugged as they come.

Here's a classic, a nail bitin' mini-drama, sung by...one of the sweetest, strongest voices in popular music. (about Crying).

You can hear it in his voice, he started off as a gospel singer. (about Garnett Mimms).

Frankie Laine gave our next artist her nickname, Miss Rhythm (about Ruth Brown).

The premier was scandalous. Never mind that the ballet was a bizarre story of pagan sacrifice, Stravinsky's musical innovations tested the patience of the audience to the fullest. Stravinsky had a bassoon player play higher in range than anyone had ever done; it was unrecognizable as a bassoon. People walked out. When the curtain came up and the dancing began, a musical theme without a melody began. It was a loud pulsating and dissonant chord, with jarring irregular accents. The audience responded to the ballet with hisses and catcalls. Nowadays the Rite of Spring is recognized as a groundbreaking work. Igor Stravinsky: madman with a fountain pen.

Let's open up this closet and get rid of some of these shoes. We got a bunch of them left over from a few weeks ago, when we did our shoes show. I think this first pair is a size nine. (before The Angels Want to Wear My Red Shoes).

...singin' about the red shoes that tell everyone your business! (about Little Sister, Throw Your Red Shoes Away).

Speaking of brooms, here we have Elmore James with a song that'll drive you round the bend.

Next up, a very sad song. A recitation a sermon. A speechifyin' testification...telling a tale of a sad man, down on his luck in the dirty part of town. (about Skid Row Joe).

Nothing less than a reinterpretation of one of the great myths. (about Take The Devil Out of Me).

Some people die too soon, others you're kind of hopin.' Tex Williams has a song for just such a situation.
