Notes.

All songs fragments.

The tape also contains discussions between Dylan and Bucklen.

BobTalk:

Zimmerman: This is Little Richard...(fakes wild crowd noises into microphone) ...Little Richard's got a lot of expression.

Bucklen: You think singing is just jumping around and screaming?

Zimmerman: You gotta have some kind of expression.

Bucklen: Johnny Cash has got expression.

Zimmerman: There's no expression. (sings in boring, slow and monotone voice): "I met her at a dance St. Paul Minnesota... I walk the line, because you're mine, because you're mine..."

Bucklen: You're doing it wrong, you're just -

<end of broadcast tape segment>

Bucklen: What's the best kind of music?

Zimmerman: Rhythm and Blues.

Bucklen: State your reason in no less that twenty-five minutes.

Zimmerman: Ah, Rhythm and Blues you see is something that you really can't quite explain see. When you hear a song Rhythm and Blues - when you hear it's a good Rhythm and Blues song, chills go up your spine...

Bucklen: Whoa-o-o!

Zimmerman: When you hear a song like that. But when you hear a song like Johnny Cash, whadaya wanna do? You wanna leave, you wanna, you - when you hear a song like some good Rhythm and Blues song you wanna cry when you hear one of those songs.

<end of broadcast tape segment>

after Jenny Take A Ride:

Bucklen: Listen, man you gotta to do it a little bit faster than that. I mean I'm trying to cut a fast record here, that's right ...

Zimmerman: I can't help it.

Bucklen: I know it ain't slow but it's not fast enough too.

Zimmerman: Whadaya talking about, man, that's plenty fast!

Bucklen: No, it isn't.

Zimmerman: *That'll sell - that'll sell (clicks fingers) just like that - ten million in a week!
Weeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeeelllll! (plays first note on piano)*

Bucklen: What are you trying to do man, coming in with 'weelll' like that? I mean

Zimmerman: Well that's for the new song and I'm starting another one.

<end of broadcast tape segment>

after Blue Moon:

Zimmerman: Yeah, ah, Ricky Nelson. Now Ricky Nelson's another one of these guys. See Ricky Nelson, Ricky Nelson

Bucklen: Ricky Nelson is out of the question.

Zimmerman: Well he copies Elvis Presley! Yeaah, it's perfectly...

Bucklen: He can't do like Elvis Presley.

Zimmerman: Well he can't sing at all, Ricky Nelson. So we may as well forget him. See I mean - I mean, ya know when you hear music like The Diamonds. For instance The Diamonds are really cool, they're out on the street really popular, really record [?], you know. So they're popular big stars but where, where do they get all the songs? You know they get all their songs, they get all their songs from little groups. They copy all the little groups. Same thing with Elvis Presley. Elvis Presley, who did he copy? He copied Clyde McPhatter, he copied Little Richard, ...

Bucklen: Wait a minute, wait a minute!

Zimmerman: ...he copied the Drifters

Bucklen: Wait a minute, name, name, name four songs that Elvis Presley's copied from those, from those little groups.

Zimmerman: He copied all the Richard songs -

Bucklen: Like what? -

Zimmerman: "Rip It Up", "Long Tall Sally", "Ready Teddy", err ... what's the other one...

Bucklen: "Money Honey"?

Zimmerman: No, "Money Honey" he copied from Clyde McPhatter. He copied "I Was The One" - he copied that from the Coasters. He copied, ahhh, "I Got A Woman" from Ray Charles.

Bucklen: Er, listen that song was written for him.

<end of last broadcast tape segment>

BobTalk

Oh that guy McKenzie. I like it. I'll do a couple of verses. Sing that whole file if you want me to do it. This is a Woody Guthrie song. (after Red Rosey Bush).

Cynthia: Do "Talking Lobbyist".

A guy: Yeah, yeah. Do "Talking Lobbyist". That's a good song.

Dylan: Ahh. It's not that good. It's a... I gotta do a ... I can't do a... I can't do a Talkin' if we're on the tape recorder without... It has to be Woody Guthrie. (almost to himself) It has to be Woody Guthrie.

Cynthia: Do "Talking Lobbyist".

Dylan never stops playing guitar throughout the following dialog. He starts Guthrie's Talking Columbia and almost finishes the first verse before...

Unknown person: Yeee-hah! Girl laughs.

Dylan: Get

Dylan shifts the lyrics over to Guthrie's "Talking Merchant Marine". He almost gets through the 2nd verse before Cynthia shouts out something.

Dylan: Screw YOU Cynthia. And all you (????).

Dylan sings the 3rd verse relatively uninterrupted. Right before the 4th verse Cynthia tries to sing something, parodying him. Dylan ignores her and sings the verse, but in the middle of the last line Cynthia shouts out something.

Dylan: Screw YOU Cynthia. (chuckles)

Cynthia again starts singing a few lines of something, parodying the Talkin' Blues format, ending with "Screw ya!".

Dylan: I said screw YOU. (almost laughing). I'm not done yet. (laughs)

He sings the 5th verse (the song has 7), with Cynthia still randomly calling things out.

Dylan: You're gonna get played right in the (???) tonight if you don't shut your God Damn mouth. (Laughter from the room). Split you right in half.

He strums a few more bars, then stops playing abruptly.

Dylan: Aw hell, I can't do it.

Cynthia: Do "Talking Lobbyist".

Notes.

Recorded by Cleve Pettersen at Bob Dylan's apartment on 15th Avenue S.E. He donated his original tape to the Minnesota Historical Society

Library in 2004.

Bonnie Beecher and Cynthia Fisher were also there. Cynthia was a sorority sister of Bonnie's who played banjo and performed with Dylan in the Fall of 1960.

Talking Inflation is also known as Talking Lobbyist.

This recording has been circulating as the Minnesota Party Tape or The Red Rosey Bush Tape.
