Selected BobTalk

Welcome to Theme Time Radio Hour. Leave your iron at the door, 'cause tonight we're gonna be playing music of the highest caliber. We're gonna shoot from the hip and put another notch on our barrel. (intro)

We're gonna start things off with a record that starts out like a gun shot, one of the funkier records ever to come out on Motown.

Tennessee Ernie was known as the “Old Pea Picker” because he always use to say ‘Bless your pea-pickin' heart.’” He recorded fifty singles during the early fifties, a lot of them making the pop charts. Some of them were straight country like this one he wrote about a hunter going out after rabbits.

The least known of the three Kings of the blues: B.B., Freddie, and Albert.

A song written by Mick Jones and Joe Strummer. Joe explained that he got the idea to write Tommy Gun when it occurred to him that terrorists, like rock stars and movie stars, probably enjoy reading in the press about their so-called triumphs.

Well usually I have a story about the people we play, but I know nothin' about this fella, except that he's a little bit dangerous.

He was called Little Caesar because he was short, fat, and ruled his label like a dictator, but nonetheless he knew what people wanted to buy and he knew there wasn't that much distance between the white audience and the black audience. He took Al Dexter's song and handed it over to The Hurricanes and it came out something like this. Actually, it came out exactly like this! (about Sid Nathan)

Here's an old friend of Theme Time Radio Hour. It's that practical joker, Jerry Irby...Shoot 'em up!

Next up, Richard and Linda Thompson. This song is the title track from an album they recorded in 1982 as their marriage was falling apart. You can almost hear it falling apart in this song. You've heard Rumble, Richard?

Notes.

The session location is fictional. The actual recording location and date for Bob Dylan's contribution are not known.

The session date here is the original broadcast date.

Stereo radio recording, 60 minutes.

Theme Time Radio Hour, Episode 26: Halloween

“It's night time in the Big City.
A female announcer dresses like me.
A skeleton puts on a fat suit.
I gotta put some gas in my car but I don't wanna put it in the tank.
I don't want to conform to what everyone else is doing.
I know I won't smoke that night though.”

Selected BobTalk

He was born on May 25th which makes him a Gemini. Gemini's are curious, good multi-taskers and in Albert King's case, they play guitar left handed.

It's Halloween tonight at Theme Time Radio Hour and we're looking at superstitions all night tonight. The superstition about a black cat may have gotten it's start during the witch hunts of the middle ages when cats were thought to be connected to evil. Since then it's been considered bad luck if a black cat crosses your path. However, in Britain and Japan, if a black cat crosses your path, it's considered good luck. Well, they drive on the other side of the road there too!

A fellow you want to hear every Halloween (about Dr. John).

Selected BobTalk

Here's a song make you feel like you were born in a barn. Sing us a song, Roy!

Joey Ramone, along with Johnny, Tommy and Deedee, all brothers from different mothers, they were an influential early punk band and some people say they invented the form of pop-punk.

This next song can eat your heart out! (about Ten Cents a Dance).

I only wish I knew a girl like that! Junior remembers watching it on TV when he was young and always being a big fan of his later on, he met Ernest Tubb and Ernest Tubb gave him some good advice: “keep it country, son.” That's what Ernest Tubb said to him.

This next record's called Dance The Slurp, and it was put out by 7-11 to promote their Slurpees. DJ Shadow and Cut Chemist use it as the basic rhythm track for their dance mix called Brain Freeze. People talk about the obscurity of my songs, oh, yeah? Give a listen to this!

This is Theme Time Radio Dance Program, and we have had a lot of requests to play a good kazatzka, and for those of you who don't know, the kazatzka is a Slavic folk dance performed by a couple. This record is one of the first Doo-Wop records to play a good kazatzka. (about When You Dance).

I'm in a dancing mood, I'm in a dancing mood, three times he's in a dancing mood!

The smoothest dancer known to man (about Fred Astaire).

Roy was a western swing band leader, he was making records even before Bob Wills. He was about the least countrified of the western swing band artists. He used a lot of clarinet, giving his band a Dixieland flavor.

Here's a song that's gonna drive Christopher Walken nuts! (about Dancing To The Rhythm).

Selected BobTalk

Your queen size home for themes, dreams and schemes. Please do not remove tag under penalty of law (intro).

You know, every shut-eye ain't sleep. Sometimes you're sleeping in the ground, taking a dirt nap, saying the big good bye.

Here's a woman who sure doesn't sound like she sleeps alone (about Berna-Dean).

I was looking through my records the other night. You know, I have over 70 George Jones Records?! If you look at them all, it gives you a great history of men's haircuts. Here's George in a period of time when he had just grown out his brush cut and had a bit of a mutton chop sideburn look going.

I ran into Pete at an all night drugstore, and he told me about this song.

One of the original members of the Cajun French Music Hall of Fame, which was established in 1997, not a moment too soon (about Belton Richard).

Another finely crafted pop classic (about Love Is Only Sleeping).

Hmmm, sounds like me playin' the organ! (about Sleep).

This next song is not for the faint of heart. Death rock was a phenomenon that happened in the late 50s and early 60s, maybe it was because of people's fear of the atomic bomb during the Cold War. This record is one of the most atmospheric of the bunch (about Endless Sleep).

Here's a distinctive voice with an unquiet heart, Richard Manuel, singing with The Band, a voice of dreams.

This is how Louis used to close his shows; we'll use it to close ours.

Well, it's sleepy time everywhere right now, so it's time for me to hang up my headphones, get out of the Abernathy Building, and slip into a dry martini. See ya next week. Pleasant dreams, schemes and themes.

Little Miss Cornshucks is the former Miss Mildred Cummings.

Selected BobTalk

Welcome once again to Theme Time Radio Hour, and I hope you brought an appetite. Because tonight we're gonna peruse the musical menu. We got a bill of fare that is truly appetizing. So I hope you're eager to dig in (intro).

A man who can be seen in animated form in a number of Betty Boop Cartoon. During a concert, a band member shot spitballs at Cab's back when he faced the audience. Cab accused Dizzy of being the culprit and upon Dizzy's vehement denial, the two began to fight. Dizzy grabbed a knife and actually cut Cab. Although the two made up after Jonah Jones and Milt Hinton came forward as the perpetrators, Dizzy was fired.

Tryin' to decide between biscuits and lovin', wow, that's a hard choice!

He led groups noted for their collective improvisations, loose rhythms, and high energy. He was a serious musician with a strong sense of humor (about Charles Mingus).

A man who sounds like he's got a smile in his voice (about Johnny Hicks).

Down in Jamaica they cook a dish called jerk chicken. It's sweet, it's peppery and it's delicious. I wonder if that's the meal that the Melodians were singing about in this song?

You heard of the Purple Rain and you've heard of the Purple Haze. But have you heard about the purple stew? As the old saying goes, some days you eat the bear, and some days the bear eats you. Here's a song about a guy who finds himself about to be served up as the main course.

Far as I know, they only made one record, what else did they need to make? America first fell in love with the song Shortnin' Bread when Lawrence Tibbett, who was the principal with the Metropolitan Opera, made a recording of it. Nelson Eddy sang it in the movie Maytime in 1937. But I bet neither of those versions rock as successfully as Paul Chaplain and his Emeralds.

America is certainly the great melting pot. Where else could someone like Slim Gaillard sing a tribute to matzoh balls and gefilte fish? It's the kind of thing that makes me proud to be an American. Sing it, Slim!

A songster from the medicine shows of Memphis. Jim Jackson's popularity was surprisingly phenomenal. He waxed 50 titles in less than three years.

The Beat Poets were all big fans of Bebop, and here's the king of Bebop, the spitball king, playing some of his Chinese music, Dizzy Gillespie, on the Atkins Diet- Crazy daddy-o!

The consummate entertainer, not just singing but also playing that wild alto saxophone, and he's got quite an appetite (about Louis Jordan).

I'll see ya next week on Theme Time Radio Hour, the home of dreams, schemes and themes, and a hot steaming meal, you don't mind picking up the check do you?

I'll let you in on a little secret. We plan the shows pretty carefully, but sometimes I get to yappin' and we don't have room for all the records I pick out. (intro).

He was a shepherder, a railroader, a union organizer, a cowboy, a hobo, a muleskinner, and a musician (about Harry “Mac” McClintock).

On the Dog show I must have brought in like 50 records. We didn't get a chance to play em all, so let me share a couple of them with you today on our Leftovers show. Tampa Red & Big Maceo wanna play with your poodle. They're saying it's your poodle dog, but I have my doubts. This was recorded for the Bluebird record label, and it's a good example of what was known as the Bluebird Beat.

With her soft rounded cheeks and eyes as bright as sunlight on a stream (about Billie Holiday).

We've told you before how Calypso is kind of like a musical commentary on the daily goings on. This song is no exception (about Gunslingers).

Our next singer is a real character, and was a close friend of Little Richard. As a matter of fact, Richard credits him as being one of his biggest influences. (about Billy Wright).

Another show that had a lot of extra songs was about the Devil. So we're gonna give the Devil his due again for a moment.

Dinah was one of the greatest of the jazz singers, and her throaty sass, soulful vocal dips, and end of the lyric growls make this version an invitation that's almost impossible to resist.

The phrase “pie in the sky” comes from the Wobblies, the labor organization formed in the United States in 1905 . They concentrated on organizing migrant and casual workers, and one of the ways they brought such fragmented groups together was by song. Every member got a little book that contained parodies of popular songs or hymns. This song, Pie In The Sky, from 1911, was aimed directly at the Salvation Army, an organization anxious to save the Wobblies' souls, while the Wobblies were more interested in putting food on the table. The song was a parody of the Salvation Army hymn, In The Sweet Bye and Bye.

I gotta go somewhere, loosen my belt, and sit down for a while. If you wanna to make up a tin foil swan and fill it with stuffin', maybe I'll take it with me. Thanks! (outro).

Here's my man, the great David Allen Coe. A dangerous man, in and out of reform schools, correction centers and prisons since the age of 9. He supposedly spent time on death row for killing a fellow inmate who made advances to him. A Rolling Stone magazine reporter questioned Coe about this. His musical response was the song, “I'd Like To Kick The Shit Out Of You”.

This is a song about the great session players in Music City, USA, one of the only places where a banjo player can make a six figure income. (about Nashville Cats).

They kind of updated the Sly and The Family Stone sound for the hip-hop generation (about Arrested Development).

One of the great singers of the rock and roll era, or any era (about LaVerne Baker).

It's probably a good time for us to give a shout out to all our truck drivin' friends. We know you truckers were the first ones to get satellite radio. So whether you're in the Dirty, The Rubber, The Gateway, The Cow Town, the Bikini, Moonpie City, Beantown, The Hanging Gardens, The Panama Canal, The Bermuda Triangle, remember, don't have a lead foot, the smokies might be watchin'!

This is your man in the moon welcoming you to 60 minutes of lunar melodies. In the background, Charlie Parker playing Ornithology. Based on the chord structure of How High The Moon, which tells ya that the moon is far away and love is far away too. Wow, that one sure knocked some heads together!

Showing the influence of Calypso records. Chuck didn't turn a deaf ear to anything.

It's a ¼ of a million miles from the earth to the moon, and there's no one I'd rather go with than Dinah Washington.

Selected BobTalk

Well it's beginning to look a lot like Christmas. And for the next couple of hours, it's going to sound like Christmas too. This is the special yuletide extravaganza edition of TYtheme Time Radio Hour, chock full of Christmas themes, holiday dreams, and jingle bell schemes.

One of the few ex-cons who recorded a popular children's album (about Leadbelly).

Some people call Bob the poor man's Bruce Springsteen, but personally, I always thought Bruce was the rich man's Bob Seger, love `em both though.

God's greatest hit makers. Managed to mix a serious message with a soulful dancing beat (about The Staple Singers).

I think it's actually against the law to do a Christmas program and not play one of his songs. This is one of the best (about Charles Brown).

You're thinkin' "How come I never heard that?" That's cause it's a new record, but it sounds like an old record. This group is still recording, trying out different sounds. They kinda mix soul music with a punk rock sound, check `em out, Google `em! (about The Bellrays).

But they do believe in the power of the B-3 organ. A lot of people think it's a Farfisa but you listen to that solo, and that's a B-3. (about Don't Believe in Christmas).

He was a toaster, and I don't mean you could put bread in him. That was so good we might play it twice! (about King Stitt).

They say their mission is to expand the musical taste of their listeners. We have the same mission here on Theme Time Radio Hour (about Brave Combo).

Here's one of the prime movers and shakers in "rocksteady", the music that kinda came between ska and reggae. (about Alton Ellis and The Lipsticks).

To all of our friends listening in behind bars, we know you made mistakes, we're sorry you have to be there, but Merry Christmas to all of you, from all of us here, at Theme Time Radio Hour.

One of the most popular features on Theme Time Radio Hour is the double entendre, the song that says one thing and maybe means another. This one skates dangerously close to being a single entendre. Kay Martin played in a lot of hotel lounges; our paths crossed more than once when I was on the road. She's a fine performer, always put on a good show.

I don't need to tell you anything more about Sonny Boy Williamson, we've played him a lot on Theme Time Radio Hour. Here's Sonny Boy with his hands in his baby's dresser drawer, and you wouldn't believe what he's trying to find!

She sings a style known as jive. Not the kind of jive like Slim Galliard, but more of a Morabi style, sort of like South African ragtime. It's heavily influenced by American jazz, but originally Morabi was played on pianos with accompaniment from pebble filled cans. By the 30's, it incorporated new instruments, like guitars, concertinas, and banjos. New kinds of Morabi sprang up, including a Morabi / swing fusion, called African Jazz and Jive. Here's a great example of it. (about Mabel Mafuya).

By the mid-60's Nancy Wilson was the second biggest seller on Capital Records. You know who number one was? That's right, Glen Campbell. Nah, I'm just kidding. It was the Beatles.

Notes.

The session location is fictional. The actual recording location and date for Bob Dylan's contribution are not known.
